

• 2021 Golden Fruit Plan •

Rules • Pitch Competition

The Golden Fruit Plan is initiated by The Golden Tree International Documentary Festival, the Golden Tree Documentary Fund, both based in Germany and Beijing and the Arkana Film Studio, based in Warsaw, Poland. The partner is Wajda School. It aims to discover new talents and promote cooperation and co-production of documentary film making between China and Europe.

The project will be organized as diagnostic training workshops and courses, held annually in China and Europe by taking turns. Acclaimed documentary experts will join young documentary film makers on their project development, and participate in survey and script writing, preliminary shooting, pre-sale and trailer making, etc.

The training strives to improve their professional skills and help them entering professional production field with cross-cultural understanding. It will also help the future distribution of films in the international market through pre-sale and incubation.

The Launch of first Golden Fruit Plan in 2021 is Running

The first Golden Fruit Plan will be hosted by the Golden Tree International Documentary Film Festival and the Arkana Film Studio, and open to proposals from China and Europe. 10 proposals, 5 each of China and Europe, will be shortlisted by the team of experienced and well-known industry professionals. Directors, producers or editors, up to 2 representatives per project, will be invited to participate in the diagnostic training courses.

After sessions of one-on-one guidance and a series of theme training courses, the Golden Fruit Plan will select 2 outstanding proposals from China and Europe respectively, to peach directly on the 2021 Golden Tree International Documentary Film Festival ceremony. The courses will take place in November 4th to 6th, 2021 in Paris. The pitching and pre-selling will also be carried out through partnership with other documentary festivals.
